Standard Oil Company Is Made Defendant In A Famous Suit Filed This Morning.

UNDER SHERMAN ANTI-TRUST LAWS

Would Restrain Their Entering Into Any Contracts As A Restraint Of Trade--Prices Vary With Localities.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Nov. 15.—Uncle Sam has struck a vital blow at the so-called "Oil Trust" in a suit begun today by Attorney General Moody in the federal court at St. Louis against the Standard Oil Corporation.

Acts For Roosevelt. Attorney General Moody is acting for the President of the United States in the suit, the papers of which are filed today through the resident United States district attorney at St. Louis. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is made defendant in the action brought under the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Many Defendants. The petition is one in equity against it, and its seventy constituent corporations, partnerships, John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry H. Rogers, Henry M. Flagler, John D. Archibald, Oliver H. Payne, Charles M. Pratt asking that a combination be declared unlawful and in the future enjoined from entering into any contract or combination in restraint of trade, etc.

Moody's Statement. In a statement made public today Secretary Moody says that the investigation conducted by Messrs. Kellogg and Morrison, special attorneys, under the direction of the President, was productive of sufficient information to show that the Standard Oil has been able to obtain in a large section of the country a monopoly in the sale of refined oil with results that prices within the territory where the monopoly prevails are much higher than within territory where competition to some extent prevails.

Petition Filed. St. Louis, Nov. 15.—The petition instituting the suit against the Standard Oil was filed in the United States court this morning by Frank B. Kellogg, special counsel for the government. The defendants have a month in which to enter an appearance, and an additional month to file an answer.

MANY STATES WISH LAKE-GULF ROUTE

Largest of all Deep Waterways Conventions is in Session at St. Louis.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—In point of attendance and enthusiasm the Deep Waterways convention, which is assembled in this city today, is the greatest demonstration of the support of that patriotic movement that has ever been held in this country. The aim of the gathering, preparations for which have been going forward since last March, is to secure an appropriation from congress to maintain at least fourteen feet of water from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, and to maintain a certain minimum stage in the prominent tributaries of the Mississippi river. Twenty-two states are interested in the project, which contemplate the expenditure of $31,000,000. The attendance at the opening of the convention includes delegates appointed by the governors of many states, those most largely represented including Louisiana, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Iowa, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee and Illinois. In addition those present included representatives of numerous boards of trade, chambers of commerce and similar organizations in the chief cities of the Mississippi Valley. The ceremonies were opened with a parade through the streets, which were decorated with the national colors and lined by cheering crowds. A feature of the ceremonies in the park was the singing of patriotic songs by the school children of Vicksburg. Major S. H. M. Beyers recited a poem written especially for the occasion and entitled "Vicksburg." Speeches were made by Governors Cummins and Vardaman, Capt. J. F. Merry, chairman of the Iowa state monument commission, General Grenville M. Dodge, representing the Secretary of War, and Col. Charles A. Clark, of Cedar Rapids, who delivered the oration of the day. Four young women, representing the states of Iowa and Mississippi, pulled the silken cords that released the flags draped about the monument.

STATE INVESTIGATION FOR "KINGDOM INCORPORATED"

Relatives Of People Living In "Elijah" Sanford's Notorious Shiloh Colony To Petition Maine Legislature.

Augusta, Me., Nov. 15.—What is hoped by many persons will prove to be the beginning of the end of "Elijah" Sanford's notorious Shiloh colony took place today, when Governor Cobb and the executive council gave a hearing to those who have complained against the Holy Ghost and U's Society. Just what the result will be is problematical, but it is generally believed that such strong pressure will be brought to bear on the governor that he will urge the next session of the legislature to probe the affairs of Shiloh with a view to suppressing the colony if sufficient evidence can be obtained to warrant such action. It is expected that the agitation will have gained such an impetus by the time the legislature assembles in January that an investigation then made will disclose a condition which will be an overwhelming argument for action against the institution.

Among those who are most prominent in the agitation against Sanford is C. F. Dunlap, of Portland, whose son has for several years been a member of the Shiloh colony and who secured the release of his grandson from the institution only by an appeal to the probate court. Mr. Dunlap is intensely hostile to the Sanford cult, and declares he will maintain the campaign until the state government takes action. Another who is keenly interested in the movement is Mrs. Alice Phelps of Kansas City, who for some time has been trying to compel the release of her daughter, May, from the influence of Shiloh. The agitation against the "Kingdom Incorporated," as the Shiloh colony is known, is not new, but this is believed to be an opportune time to push it to a finish. One reason is the approaching session of the legislature, another is the absence of "Elijah" Sanford, who is on the way to the Holy Land with some 150 of his disciples in the yacht Coronet and barkentine The Windom. The third and most urgent cause is the conviction that in the coming winter the inhabitants of Shiloh are liable to suffer more for food than in previous years and sympathy is for the large number of young children there. According to the best information obtainable the pecuniary situation is discouraging compared with former years. Subscriptions have not been so frequent nor so large. It has been evident for some time that Shiloh has not been drawing recruits so steadily as formerly. Until a few months ago residents of the state were regularly reported as having disposed of their property and joining the Shiloh institution, transferring to the "Kingdom" all they possessed. But now Maine people have apparently ceased to be attracted to Shiloh, and there have been no material influx of converts from other parts of the country.

TALK OF NEW LOCATION OF EPISCOPAL SEMINARY.

RADICAL CHANGE PLANNED

University Neighborhood Is Said to Be Considered as a Possibility.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—Theological instruction in the university community, although in accordance with Wisconsin law, not officially connected with the university, is the aim of leading Episcopalians of Madison, who have launched a project of removing the Episcopal seminary, Nashotah, near Oconomowoc, to Madison.

President James of the University of Illinois has invited the Congregational theological seminary, Andover, to come to Urbana, and cooperate with the Illinois state school. While the constitution of this state as construed by the supreme court forbids the giving of religious or sectarian instruction in the free schools of Wisconsin, it is believed that there should be at the university opportunity for such studies, and it is also believed that if such a thing were provided, it would "tone up" the university community and relieve the institution from some of the criticisms passed upon it.

Madison Episcopalians, among them Supreme Court Justice John B. Winslow, declare that the theological seminary of Nashotah will in all likelihood be removed shortly to Madison. The proposal is an outgrowth of the plans of the Wisconsin Episcopal diocesan council to maintain a mission of that denomination at the university. At the last meeting of the diocesan council in Milwaukee it was decided to provide an Episcopal religious worker in the university community, to work in connection with Grace church here. The plan involves the erection of an Episcopal chapel near the university and possibly also the erection of dormitory and guild hall for Episcopal students. Leading Madison Episcopalians believe the plan should be revised and enlarged to include the removal of the Nashotah seminary from Oconomowoc to the state university. The ample grounds of the seminary at its present site represent large value on account of the development of Oconomowoc into a summer resort. These grounds, it is proposed to plat and sell as residence building sites, and in this way provide a generous endowment for the new seminary at Madison. It would not be necessary to maintain so large grounds here as are owned by the seminary at Oconomowoc. The funds realized from the sale of the land there would provide ample for the buildings and equipment desired here. One reason for the proposed change is the presence of the university, with its beautiful natural environment and its abundant and rich equipment of libraries. The seminary students would have the benefit of the university, could take educational work in the state institution, and could at the same time pursue the regular curriculum of the theological seminary. By easy adjustment to the new circumstances, the seminary could be enlarged and strengthened and at the same time its administration might be economized, and the change be altogether advantageous, serving the ends sought by the diocesan council with respect to the needs and welfare of the Episcopal students in the university, and also working to the upbuilding of the educational work of the denomination in its seminary.

FOOTBALL PLAYER
HAS ARM IN SLING

Doane Wright Sustained Fracture of Elbow in High School Game at Monroe.

In spite of the fact that the local high school football team is playing according to the reformed rules, Doane Wright, left halfback, is carrying his arm in a sling as the result of an injury sustained in the game. Early in the season he fractured one bone of the right forearm at the elbow. But a small piece of the bone was broken and after being set the member was bound with only a bandage, splints and a sling being considered unnecessary. The bone was again broken a few days later, but by remaining out of practice several afternoons the process of knitting was repeated. In Saturday's game at Monroe he was forced to put his arm in a sling. It is expected, however, that he will be able to play again this season and though he may not get into the game against Lake Mills here Saturday afternoon he will surely be back with the team for the Fox Atkinson and alumni contests.

For winter or summer, Mrs. Austin's Pancake flour. Always good at grocers.

FOOTBALL SEASON
CLOSES SATURDAY

Last Game on the University Schedule is to Take Place on Saturday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—Football training at the University of Wisconsin is closed for this season, and the team is in readiness for the final game of the year with Purdue here Saturday. The badgers are in good shape for the concluding tussle, and the only element of apprehension is that Purdue may profit by the overconfidence of the badger players. The occasion will be a gala day at Madison, being the last game of a successful season, and the players will be given a rousing celebration. In order that some good substitutes may be given an opportunity to earn the official "W" of football honor, there will be some shifting of players in the second half of the Purdue game unless the visitors prove exceptionally strong. The line-up at the start will be as follows for the badgers:

Left end, Rogers; left tackle, Dittman or Johnson; left guard, Bleyer or Huntley; center, Stiehman; right guard, Captain Gelbach; right tackle, Messmer; right end, Frank; quarterback, Springer; left halfback, "Cody" Clark; right halfback, Zeisler or Curtin; fullback, Howard or Miller.

Tuesday afternoon a delivery horse belonging to the W. W. Nash grocery establishment, drawing a wagon partially filled with groceries, took a nine-mile amble to the southward while the driver was engaged inside of the store. The animal and the vehicle were missed after they were well on their way and vain inquiries were made about the city. It was not until late in the evening that Jerome Hammes who lives a mile north of Shopiere telephoned that he had discovered a horse drawing a "Nash" wagon busily engaged in devouring the seed corn which had been hung up to dry in a shed on his premises. A messenger was sent after the outfit and found upon his arrival at the Hammes place that horse, vehicle, and the contents of the latter were unpaired.

Sometimes Help the Hair to Go.

In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair-dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair-dressing why not get the best one that combines with the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ, the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair, and in time baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair-dressing. You have no idea how delightful your scalp will feel, and how stylish your hair will appear, after an application or two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful innovation as a scalp antiseptic and hair-dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE SKIDOO PROBLEM

A coin collector had an accumulation of pennies. He told his son he would make him a present of the entire lot if he would put them in boxes, the same number in each box.

There was an odd number of pennies so that he put an equal number in each of two boxes there would be one penny left over; in a like manner he figured on 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22 boxes, but in every case if he put an equal number in each box there would be one (only one) penny left over. The son gave it up and told his father he thought it impossible to perform the feat. His father replied: "SKIDOO—23 for you." The son then put the entire lot of pennies in 23 boxes, the same number in each box. The entire number of pennies was a number, which if divided by any number from 2 to 22 inclusive there will be a remainder of one (only one) and if divided by 23 there will be no remainder.

Address all answers to PUZZLE EDITOR.

500 new pennies will be given to the person who sends in the most skillfully worded correct solution to the problem. 23 pennies will be given to the five other contestants whose solutions are considered by the judges to be the next most ingenious. Skidoo pins will be given to the other contestants whose solutions are considered unusually cleverly worded out.

The "Skidoo" fever has caught, in fact it is growing hot. Answers to the problem are coming in thick and fast. Figures from a few cents up into the septillions are given as solutions. What do you think is the correct answer? Send answers as often and as many of them as you please. Write on one side of the paper only in sending your answer and if sealed and mailed use 2c postage.

More Who Think They Have Won The Prize.

Short, to the Point.

Let 23 equal No. 23 divided by 22 equals 1 and 1 over; 23 divided by 21 equals 0. 23 number of pennies.

DELUDED GOMPERS

Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, has just made his annual report to the national labor convention held in Minneapolis. It is a lengthy document, covering the field of labor in all its branches and advocating very strongly the establishment of a universal eight-hour work day.

Recommendations of various kinds are made, and one of them is so visionary that it is worth considering. Mr. Gompers believes that labor possesses both the right and ability to successfully resist a deduction in wages at any and all times. He says: "If we adhere to the policy established and maintain it as a fixed principle in the industrial affairs of America, that at any and all hazards we will resist any attempt at wage reductions, we shall establish not only a new economic principle, but a new philosophy by which industrial panics and crises will be obliterated, and we shall set an example for the whole world to follow."

"A reduction in wages compels retrenchment in the household economy of the workmen affected. In other words, it curtails their consuming power which necessarily results in the discharge from employment of those workers who were formerly employed in the production of the very articles therefore used and consumed. Then follow reductions in wages, resulting as in the first instance; and this process of wage reductions, of retrenchment in household economies, of more discharges from employment ensues, bringing in its wake poverty, misery and suffering, stagnation and an industrial panic, until the lowest ebb is reached and a turn in the industrial tide begins."

"There is neither economy nor wisdom, judgment nor humanity, in such misconduct and misconception of industrial affairs or duties. And if perchance, our captains of industry fail to profit by the lessons and experience of the past, then at least the wage-earners of America will teach the lesson from which the human family will reap untold blessings."

"It is not presumed that all of labor's contentions and struggles can result in immediate victory, yet none can dispute that every justified battle undertaken by labor has been fraught with advantage, and that particularly every defensive struggle of labor's rights has had a potent influence to check deterioration in the condition of the workers."

"Employers will hesitate long before inaugurating an industrial struggle when they are conscious of the fact that the toiling masses will defend any encroachment upon their standard of life against their being forced back from the position they now occupy in civilization."

"If labor shall resist all attempts at reductions in wages, some battles may be lost; but these would be reduced to a minimum in the same degree as it is clearly understood that it is our firm resolve that we will rather resist and lose than not to resist at all."

"At present we are confronted with no immediate danger or threat that the employers of labor contemplate reductions in wages. There is not now even an excuse for such a course. It, therefore, all the more commends itself to our judgment that during this year of comparative industrial tranquility and more general employment of our people, that we write, on our banners, beside the watchwords and slogans which have carried the toilers along the road of progress to victory, that which for ages has been the missing word in our social progress: 'No reduction in wages for American labor; we will resist to the uttermost.'"

It carried out this doctrine could be a fair Utopia. The theory is that all the people would be employed at good wages all the time, and everybody having plenty of money to spend, the factories would be kept busy, and prosperity and happiness would chase each other in a sort of endless chain cycle. Mr. Gompers evidently got his inspiration from San Francisco, where organized labor has run things with a high hand for the past two or three years.

Before the disaster struck labor, in many lines, received six dollars for a short workday, and the price for labor today is so nearly prohibitive that many building projects are abandoned.

Prosperity has brought to the country abnormal conditions. The demand for all kinds of labor, from the household to the skilled mechanic, is far in excess of the supply. The question just now is not so much a question of wages as of men and women to do the work at almost any price.

These abnormal conditions seem to occupy the mind of Mr. Gompers so completely that he evidently thinks they will continue for an indefinite period.

If he will hark back a few years, and live over again the season of depression which hung over the country like a pall, he would be less erratic in his demands.

The labor market was so badly overstocked, at that time, that conditions were reversed, and the question of work, and not of wages, was the vital and all-absorbing question.

The Coxey army was not an army of tramps, but simply a squad of unemployed workmen, desperate, because of enforced idleness.

Every community had its full quota of this class of men, and the soup house was as common as the saloon, in all centers of population.

A mechanic came into the office one night, during these dark days, and said: "I have taken the Gazette for twenty years, but am obliged to stop it until I can earn more money. I have had steady work for a good many years, at good wages, but now I am glad to get anything to do at fifty cents a day," and there were plenty of men who envied him his job.

"How would Mr. Gompers' theory work in such times as these? The proposition is too ridiculous to consider. Labor, exalt it as you will, is a commodity, and while every man owes it to himself to sell his labor at the best possible price, the ability to create a market for it is beyond him."

That requires combination of both capital and brain, and these forces are useless unless economic conditions invite investment. When furnace fires go out and industries are paralyzed organized labor is as helpless as organized capital, and neither are in position to dictate. Mr. Gompers is wrong in his promises and badly deluded.

NOT THE MOST POPULAR

It is to be regretted that the good roads movement, introduced by the National Good Roads association, is not more popular. Lack of information and knowledge concerning the proposition is the only way to account for the lethargy.

There is nothing revolutionary about the movement, neither is extravagance of any kind contemplated. Two objections seem to influence the people to greater or less extent. One, the suggestion of state aid; the other, interference with county and town road commissions.

So far as the first is concerned, it should be remembered that a constitutional amendment, voted on by the people, is necessary, before the state could offer any assistance.

The fact is generally conceded that good roads are desirable, and there should certainly be no objection to submitting the question to the people so far as state aid and state supervision is concerned.

If it should pass, and it is to be hoped that it would, it does not mean anything burdensome in the way of taxes, for the railroads and public service utilities are now paying all the state taxes, and a surplus is left which could be spent to no better advantage than systematic road building.

Then, too, there is a county option clause, which provides that a majority of the voters in the county must vote to improve the roads, under state supervision, before anything can be done.

If the vote is favorable, then the county decides how much work shall be done and where, and state engineers supervise it, and the state pays from 25 to 33 per cent of the cost, while the county and property adjoining and abutting pays the balance.

The second objection, interference, is hardly worth considering. Road building is a science, and no man is competent to handle it intelligently until he has mastered the art. The town commissioner has no opportunity to do this. He is as ignorant of the principles and methods as the street commissioner in the average town and city, and the streets and roads are always in evidence.

The National Good Roads association is an educator and every man who is not blinded by prejudice should recognize this fact. The state of New York voted to spend $5,000,000 a year, for the next ten years, to aid the counties in building good roads.

A Janesville man recently spent a couple of weeks in the central part of the state where new roads had been instituted. He said they were like a boulevard, and the farmers were enthusiastic. They said that the weather never affected the roads, and they could haul any kind of a load at any season of the year. The price of farms had advanced materially, and everybody was pleased with the investment.

This is the experience in thirty-eight states where systematic and intelligent work has been established. Wisconsin can well afford to get in line. Messrs. Moore and Loucks have been called to St. Louis to attend the national convention. They will resume work in the state a little later, and should be heartily endorsed by all citizens.

LABOR INFLUENCES

"The continued decline in home railway securities," says the London Daily Mail, "is a serious matter to investors generally. Trade continues to expand in a very gratifying manner, and it is a long time since earnings have shown such a substantial expansion as, during the past twelve months. But no attention is paid to this encouraging state of affairs, investors throughout the country, fearing socialist legislation of all kinds which will place the railways more at the mercy of the labor agitators. So far the government has not turned a deaf ear to the demands of the labor party, and in view of the events of the last few weeks it is likely that these demands will be pressed with greater vigor in the coming session. It is not surprising, therefore, that investors hold aloof."

This indicates that the same socialistic influences are at work in England, that are so disturbing at the present time in this country. While railroads are expending money freely for extensions and betterments, they would be much more liberal and ambitious if conditions were not so disturbing.

J. J. Hill of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific said in a speech the other night that the railroads needed 120,000 miles of extra trackage today to accommodate traffic, and then added, "What can we do, with one political party clamoring for government ownership and the other for government control? Capital cannot be interested."

That tells the whole story. The atmosphere is heavy with socialistic theories, and unless the tide is checked a reaction is bound to set in and depression is sure to follow.

People who can't find anything else of a disturbing nature to talk about, discuss the tariff. They advocate revision, without knowing why, and demand reduction because it is popular to be a kicker.

The fact is ignored or overlooked that times are so good, and everybody so well supplied with money, that 95 per cent of all our manufactured goods are used at home, and that a reduction of the tariff would simply flood our market with foreign goods cheap in price because of half-paid labor.

The protective tariff is the laboring man's friend, and the railroads are a blessing to all the people. Less chin music and more attention to knitting will prolong the days of prosperity, so poorly appreciated.

Senator Smoot of Salt Lake was glad to introduce Senator La Follette to a Mormon audience, the other night, but he left before the curtain went down, a sadder but a wiser man. The Mormon senator is on the black list, with the rest of his republican colleagues.

The Andover Theological seminary, endowed for a million, is on the verge of collapse. The school has but a dozen students with a faculty large enough for ten times that number. Young men are not taking to the ministry as in former years.

The prospects are, that quite a number of the faithful at Madison will be out of a job, the first of January. Governor Davidson proposes to have his friends compose his political household, a privilege to which he is entitled.

The National Grange, in session at Denver, petitioned congress for a $50,000,000 appropriation, to be spent in ten years in aiding the good roads movement. The Grange is represented by delegates from many states.

The two Delmonico restaurants in New York are valued at $800,000. The property is managed by Josephine Delmonico, and the methods employed are said to be so loose that the executor of the estate has applied for a receiver.

The country will breathe easier when the President is back in Washington. There are too many anarchists loafing around the Canal Zone for either comfort or safety.

The Milwaukee banks show reserves far beyond the legal limit, and speak well for conservative management.

Good roads make good prices for land, and a good market for produce.

THE MAKING OF A MAN, IN SERMONS

Rev. J. W. Laughlin of Presbyterian Church Will Begin Series of Evening Talks Next Sunday.

Beginning with next Sunday evening Rev. J. W. Laughlin will preach a series of special sermons at the Presbyterian church on "The Making of a Man." The sermons will be on the following topics:

Nov. 18—Hereditary or Environment. Does blood tell in the life of a man? The disadvantage in not being able to select one's own ancestors. The responsibility of parenthood.

Nov. 25—The Family. Large families or small. Home atmosphere. Power of suggestion. Memory.

Dec. 2—Society. Right conceptions of life. Every man a contributor. What should be the nature of the contribution?

Dec. 9—Specifics in Character. Some old-time cardinal virtues modernized. The power of the initiative. Ideals.

Dec. 16—On the Wrong Road. Illustrated by "The Common Lot." This series of sermons is an effort on the part of the pastor to make the gospel real in the life of the people. Its object will be to show how life may become rich by the use of the will in appropriating things that are noble and helpful, and how all that is beautiful and true may be marred and forever ruined by wrong doing. The public is cordially invited to these services.

MORTUARY NEWS.

Miss Mary Van Kirk. The remains of the late Miss Mary Van Kirk arrived here from Los Angeles, Calif., this morning, and the funeral services will be held from the Baptist church Friday afternoon at half past two o'clock.

J. R. Richmond. J. R. Richmond, an old resident of Janesville, died at the county hospital for the chronic insane November 11. He was stricken with paralysis several years ago and the disease unbalanced his mind, and finally it became necessary to put him in charge of experienced wardens. The deceased was past seventy years of age and left a wife to mourn his demise. Funeral services were held from the late home at 75 Racine street and burial was in Whitewater.

Walter Otto Korban. At five o'clock yesterday afternoon Walter Otto Korban, aged three and a half years, died at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Korban in the town of Janesville. The funeral will be held from the home at five o'clock Saturday morning and interment will be in the town of Center cemetery.

Weds the Governor's Son. Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—A wedding of note in Columbus this evening will be that of Miss Mary Jeanette Dodson and Mr. Brooks Fleming, of Fairmount, W. Va. The ceremony takes place at the Hotel Lincoln, Dr. James A. Patterson, of the Central Presbyterian church officiating. The bridegroom is the son of ex-Governor A. B. Fleming of Virginia, and is associated with his father's extensive coal interests.

Heedless and Satisfied. Green Bay Gazette: In spite of the warning given by Candidate Ayward, the voters of Wisconsin seem content to let the "extravagance" of a republican administration continue.

SHORT OF ENGINES: "DINKIES" COUPLED

St. Paul Railway Company Reduced to This Expedient by Rush of Business.

Business being heavy on every portion of the system the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company is very short of engines and much difficulty is experienced in keeping the rolling stock moving. All the locomotives that can be fitted up for use are being pressed into service and in some places two small engines are coupled together to do the work of a common sized locomotive.

On the so-called "dog" run between here and Milton numbers 1431 and 1260, in charge of Engineers Weber and William Smith, are now being used. Though the history of these machines is not known, railway men say both were wood burners in their day.

LARGE SUM PAID TO THE FARMERS TODAY

Pay Day at the Rock County Sugar Company—Over a Hundred Thousand Paid Out.

This is the first pay day at the Rock County Sugar company for the present season. Over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars was paid out in checks to the fortunate growers who delivered their crops during the month of October. The factory is now running full force night and day and taking care of the loads as fast as they can be delivered. The pay for the beets delivered in November will not be made until December fifteenth.

"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDIN" is the EATING

WE publish below a letter from the well known roofing contractor, Mr. J. C. Roesling, who is about to make his future home in California. He intended to take his stove with him but had so many offers that he thought best to sell. He says he will buy another MAJESTIC RANGE when he settles in his new home. Would also buy a Favorite Heater but they don't use heating stoves out there:

Gentlemen—I sold the Favorite Base Burner I bought of you Nov. 10, 1899, seven years ago, for $80, and my Majestic Range that I purchased October 17, 1898, eight years ago, for $85.00. These stoves have been used ever since, the Range being in constant use every day, and I have not needed any repair or spent a cent on them.

Respectfully yours,

The range I bought from the mail order house of _____ three years ago this fall is entirely worn out or eaten up. I might say, it is not worth scrap iron. I paid about $30 for this range.

Yours respectfully,

This man was so ashamed of his bargain that he requested us not to print his name, but we can verify this statement. He also said the range he bought was guaranteed to be the best made and most economical. Judge for yourself

An Experience

We also traded a FAVORITE BASE BURNER for a stove that came from a Michigan mail order house. Our customer tried to get something for nothing, got his fingers burned, paid $12.00 for his experience, and is now an enthusiastic Favorite shouter.

A Convincing Trial

We not only give you a 30-day or a 360 day trial, but will agree to take back any stove we sell within five years if not exactly as represented.

CONTRACT WITH NEXT SHERIFF

WAS MADE BY COUNTY BOARD
THIS AFTERNOON.

REPORT OF EQUALIZATION

Committee Was Accepted—Salary of Supt. Killam Raised—Expected to Adjourn Today.

Sheriff-elect I. U. Fisher of Evansville was intercepted at Elroy last evening, while on his way to the northern wilds for a deer hunting expedition. Of the fact that it was necessary for him to enter into a contract with the county board of supervisors at the November meeting, he had not been apprised until the messenger sent out by a wire from District Attorney J. L. Fisher found him aboard the northbound train. The terms of the contract, executed this afternoon are the same as those made with the present sheriff. In consideration of a salary of $2,500 a year he is to board and furnish everything needed for the care and maintenance of all prisoners sent to the county jail by commitment or otherwise during his term of office, the county agreeing to keep the building in repair, furnish light, fuel, cooking and eating utensils, bedding, and medical attendance and to pay the runaway salary that shall be fixed by the board.

Supervisor Smiley submitted the report of the special committee appointed to confer with Judge Sale with regard to the plan of placing his office on a salary basis. Both the committee and the judge agreed that it would be preferable to abolish the mixed salary and fee system but they had learned that it could only be done by legislative enactment. Wherefore the committee recommended that the Rock county members of the legislature be requested to procure such legislation at the coming session as will place the salary of the county judge at $3,000 and abolish all fees for which the county is or otherwise would be liable to that officer.

Supervisor Cannon submitted a recommendation that the salary of Supt. Killam of the county poor farm and insane asylum be fixed at $1,200 after Jan. 1. On motion the recommendation was adopted, thirty-eight voting "aye" and Supervisor G. Clemetson of Orfordville village, voting "no." The report of Committee 13 on bills, including recommendations that a number be disallowed, was adopted. Some of the more important items were: $539.39 allowed Sheriff Cochran for extra expenses and $64.85 allowed City Marshal W. H. Appleby. Among the bills disallowed were those of David Clarke, A. M. Glenn and E. E. Edgington, on the grounds that the same parties received pay for another case the same day and that the law provides that no individual is entitled to more than $2 on any one day for appraising diseased animals.

The building committee was instructed to secure designs for a new barn at the county farm and estimates on the probable cost, and to report at the January meeting. The sum of $10 was appropriated for the use of Chairman S. S. Jones for his services in signing orders. It was found impossible to grant this year the petitions from the town of Bradford and the town of Beloit for the graveling of certain roads, owing to the fact that the petitions were defective in form—particularly in the first instance—the petitioner failing to show whether or not the road in question is a main traveled highway, is to be graded at the expense of the town, etc.

The committee of equalization, consisting of F. P. Livermore, L. E. Gettle, J. A. Paul, A. C. Gray, H. L. Skavlen, Robert Barlass, Edward Rathem, C. H. Crosby, and W. D. Cameron, reported that their work had been completed on a basis of $45,000, 000 valuation for the county, the figures used being those of the assessors and based on 80 per cent of true valuation. Supervisor of Assessments P. P. Starr was commended for his work and asked, as a further step, to take up the apportionment of Rock county with the state tax commission with the idea of demonstrating to that body that it is too high by several millions of dollars. The report was adopted, as was the second annual report of the supervisor of assessments.

The report on illegal taxes was adopted, an adjustment with M. E. Williams and a refund of $24.07 to N. K. Heggard being recommended there-in. It was agreed, by resolution, that when adjustment was taken it should be to the third Tuesday in January. The Soldiers' Relief Commission reported expenditures amounting to $3,756.75 and a balance on hand of $2,106.51. The salary of the postmaster of the southern district was fixed at $30 a month. All of the supervisors save J. E. Egan of Spring Valley were present at the session today.

WAS WITHOUT FOOD FOR THREE DAYS

Frank G. Barnes, Stranded in Janesville, Will be Assisted to Fond du Lac Tonight.

Frank G. Barnes, a man past middle age and of very genteel appearance, is stranded in Janesville and the police office has been sheltering him since Tuesday night. His story is one of a hard battle against ill fortune. Several months ago he journeyed from New York to Detroit in the hope of bettering his lot. The opportunity he had been expecting in the Michigan metropolis did not materialize, however. He found employment as a waiter. Subsequently he secured a position in a department store and was just beginning to see a rift in the clouds when he was prostrated by rheumatism. He went to Mt. Clemens and took treatment as long as his money lasted and then started for Fond du Lac where he has friends. His last cent had been expended when he reached Chicago and he walked all the way to Woodstock. Tuesday evening when he had been without food for three days, a stranger heard his story in the Woodstock depot and bought him a meal and a ticket to Janesville. "I do not drink, smoke but very little, and can charge my present humiliating position only to ill fortune and not to any bad habits or vices," he said this morning. He will be helped to Fond du Lac tonight.

DAY'S NEWS BUDGET OF THE LINE CITY

Direct Phone Connections with Orfordville—Well-Known Resident Gets Fine Position.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Beloit, Wis., Nov. 15.—Beginning today Beloit has direct telephonic connections with Orfordville, the new line of the Rock County company being put in service. The support of the line is to come largely from the farmers along the route and thus a large territory besides the village of Orfordville is brought closer to the city. Formerly it was necessary to talk via the Janesville exchange on both the Bell and independent lines.

Five Thousand a Year. James E. Lambert, a well-known resident of Beloit since boyhood and possessing many acquaintances in Janesville, is to leave here January first. He has been in the employ of the Fairbanks-Morse company for fourteen years, acting as purchasing agent, a very important position, the larger part of the time. On his departure he will take a place with the Hayden & Westcott Lumber company of Chicago, receiving a salary of $5,000 and becoming a stockholder in the concern.

Ex-Governor Hoard Spoke. Ex-Governor Hoard spoke at the meeting of the Six O'Clock club here last evening. The session was the opening one of the season and Mr. Hoard's address was the principal portion of the program. His subject was "The Making of a Man" and in his introduction he termed the Rock River valley one of the richest stretches of country in the world and paid high compliment to the diversified industries of Janesville, Beloit, Rockford and other cities on its slopes.

For Melancholy Insanity. Florence Witter, wife of L. Witter, residing a few miles northwest of the city was taken to the state hospital for insane at Mendota today. She had been suffering with melancholia and it was feared that her illness might result in permanent insanity or some rash act.

Y. M. C. A. BASKET BALL TEAM DATED

Will Play Mandt Wagon Works Five at Stoughton Next Thursday Evening.

Tomorrow evening the candidates for the first basket ball team of the local Y. M. C. A. will meet to organize, arrangements having been made for a game next Thursday evening. The contest is to take place at Stoughton and is with the five representing the Mandt Wagon Works. This aggregation plays Milton college and various high school and academy organizations every season and will no doubt prove a worthy competitor for the local organization. It appears that the most promising aspirants for the team are Len Mathews, Bruce Kline, Roy Palmer, Walter Carle, and Fred Wilkerson and they will probably elect a captain and be assigned positions tomorrow night.

SELF INTEREST

Our bank is not only safe but it is kept safe by the careful vigilance of the active management. Most banks have good men as officers or directors but it frequently happens that the very men on whom the public depends for safe management do not hold enough stock to have a vital personal interest in the affairs of the bank. There is no interest like self-interest and one of the greatest safeguards that can be thrown around a bank and that which is commonly overlooked, is the personal acquisition of large holdings of the bank's stock by the individual officers and directors. Our officers and directors own two-thirds of the stock in this bank.

BRYAN ADDRESSES CHURCH MEMBERS

NEW BROTHERHOOD IS FORMALLY LAUNCHED.

QUOTES GREAT RUSSIAN

Tolstoi's Definition of Religion Commanded by Nebraska as One of the Best Has Been Able to Find.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15.—The greater part of Wednesday's session of the delegates attending the convention of the new organization of church workers to be called the Presbyterian Brotherhood was taken up with the address of Dr. W. H. Roberts, of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the Presbyterian general assembly. His subject was "The Presbyterian Church: What It Stands For." Others who spoke were Patterson Dubois, of Philadelphia; Dr. B. B. Bigger, of Massillon, O.; and Vice President of the United States Charles W. Fairbanks, of this city. Fraternal greetings were extended by representatives of various church organizations.

Bryan Delivers Address.
At night William Jennings Bryan, an elder in the Presbyterian church at Lincoln, Neb., addressed the delegates and visitors. Dr. Hunter Corbett, moderator of the general assembly, delivered the invocation. John H. Converse, of Philadelphia, was presiding officer at the night session.

When Mr. Bryan stepped to the front of the platform he was accorded a most enthusiastic reception, practically everyone in the hall rising to their feet, waving handkerchiefs and hats. The demonstration lasted several minutes.

Delegates and Ratio O. K.
Mr. Bryan, in opening his address, said he was glad to be a delegate to the first Presbyterian Brotherhood convention, and he rejoiced especially that there was no contesting delegate. He said it had not always been so in the past. The speaker said he began church life as a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church when he was 14 years of age. Mr. Bryan was greeted with another outburst of applause when he declared that, comparing the time he had been in the Cumberland church, with that in the other branch, the "ratio appeared to be all right."

Commends the Name.
Continuing Mr. Bryan spoke in reference to the benefits to be derived from the organization to be perfected at the present gathering of Christian workers. He declared that the name chosen, "Brotherhood," could not have been better selected. He said it was a part of a "world-wide movement, a moral awakening." The speaker declared there could be no real morality without religion as the foundation of morality.

Like Tolstoi's Definition.
"Tolstoi defined religion," said Mr. Bryan, "as the relation between man and his God, and this is one of the best definitions I have been able to find. Tolstoi says morality is the outward sign of this sentiment. In all my travels in many lands I found the natives practiced some kind of religion."

Mr. Bryan spoke of the custom in some Asiatic lands where the women were compelled to worship behind a screen. He said it was different here. The women were foremost in this country and it was the men who generally kept in the background.

Planning Mills Burned.
Peoria, Ill., Nov. 15.—The planing mills of the Wahfield Manufacturing company burned to the ground here early Wednesday morning, incurring a loss of $60,000, nearly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The plant will be re-built.

ROCKEFELLER IS INDICTED

GRAND JURY RETURNS BILLS FOR VIOLATION OF LAW.

With Four Others He Will Have To Answer For Breach of Anti-Trust Act.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 15.—The grand jury Wednesday found indictments against John D. Rockefeller and four others in connection with the Standard Oil inquiry which was reopened upon the reconvening of that body in adjourned session Tuesday.

What the indictments allege or what the four other defendants in addition to Mr. Rockefeller are not given out by Prosecutor David, who, however, admitted the indictments had been returned.

The bench warrants issued upon the indictments were placed in the hands of Sheriff Groves, who went to Cleveland where it is supposed they are to be served.

It is understood the indictments charge the defendants with having continued to contract the oil production and to fix prices on and after July 7, 1906, in violation of the Valentine anti-trust act, a state law under which the recent prosecution of the Standard Oil company in this county was conducted and in which a fine of $5,000 was imposed by the probate court.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, November 15, 1866.—A New Court House.—One of the important matters that have already engaged the attention of the Board of Supervisors in session is the necessity of a new court house for Rock county. The room now used is poorly located for such purposes and it is doubtful if its use can be retained for much longer as a Masonic society is bidding for it. This work has been delayed long enough and we hope to see some preliminary action taken soon in regard to it. The necessity for it is so manifest that it is not worth while to write an extended article in favor of its speedy prosecution. While the on the subject of early history of our county and the people were taxed to the utmost to pay bounties and all extensive historical research, but was quoted, the question of a new court presented in a clear and comprehensive manner that rendered it of great interest to our citizens.

Health and Beauty

Beauty is the external proof of health; with failing health comes failing beauty. Woman's delicate organism is frequently over-taxed by arduous household duties, and the demands of society. The constant drain upon her vitality weakens her nervous system. The penalty is a tired, worn-out, exhausted condition which destroys her appetite, robs her of rest, and at intervals causes much suffering and distress. When these conditions exist, the weakened nerves must be strengthened. Dr. Miles' Nervine will do this. It stimulates the action of all the organs, brings refreshing sleep, and drives away that look of care.

"I have taken Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for years, as did my mother before me. Whenever I feel tired, take the Nervine and it strengthens me. I consider it a great remedy for nervousness."

MRS. C. L. FREDERICK, Canton, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that you will get a bottle of it. If it fails, he will refund your money.

Plain Truth About Diet.
Two things are pretty well agreed upon by the best authorities; namely, that a mixed diet is best, and that more trouble comes from over-eating than from eating many things, though either fault is bad enough.

COMFORTING WORDS
Many a Janesville Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Janesville readers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, of 58 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have been troubled with a very weak back and continuous pain with a heavy bearing-down pain in the loins. I did not understand my trouble at first and used a lot of remedies that did not help me, but since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's Drug Co., I have been rid of my old complaint, and it gives me pleasure to recommend the remedy that cured me."

Plain Truth About Diet.
Two things are pretty well agreed upon by the best authorities; namely, that a mixed diet is best, and that more trouble comes from over-eating than from eating many things, though either fault is bad enough.

COMFORTING WORDS
Many a Janesville Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Janesville readers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, of 58 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have been troubled with a very weak back and continuous pain with a heavy bearing-down pain in the loins. I did not understand my trouble at first and used a lot of remedies that did not help me, but since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's Drug Co., I have been rid of my old complaint, and it gives me pleasure to recommend the remedy that cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Treat the Inside Nerves.
There is one sure way to get well. That is to restore the inside nerves. Dr. Snoddy's Restorative is the only treatment that in any way affects the inside nerves. It is a remedy which acts safely and positively on any specific organ, but on the very inside nerves themselves—a medicine which gives them power and strength and reinforcement, that repairs the very mismanagement of life that vitiates every organ. For sale and recommended by

"You sent for me, Miss Remson," he began.

"Yes, Mr. Barnes," she replied. "Will you be seated?" The detective accepted her invitation, and she continued: "To come to the point at once, I wish to see you about my lost ruby. It was a present from Mr. Mitchell to me, and besides being very costly, I attach a sentimental value to it. I want you to undertake to recover it, and I will give you $1,000 if you succeed."

Mr. Barnes had never had so many thousands of dollars offered him in so short a time before. He smiled slightly and said:

"Your offer comes too late, Miss Remson. I have a letter from Mr. Mitchell himself, making a similar offer. It would scarcely be proper for me to accept two rewards for one service."

"Then you refuse to help me?"

"On the contrary, I will use my utmost endeavors to detect the thief and recover your property for you. But I need no money from you."

"You are very conscientious, Mr. Barnes, and I admire it. I honor a man who places his duty above money."

"I thank you for your courteous remark. Now, if I am to help you, you must begin by assisting me."

"I will do whatever I can, certainly."

"Then, tell me, have you no suspicion as to who might have taken your jewel?"

"The girl hesitated, and the detective watched her face keenly. As she did not reply at once he asked another question:

"Did you feel the person take the pin from your hair?"

"Yes, I did; but I did not realize what was occurring till he had it."

"Why did you not make any resistance or cry out?"

"Again she hesitated, but in a moment she said firmly:

"I know that you have a right to ask me these questions, and I will reply to them if you insist upon it. But first, tell me; would it be right for me to call a name to you as one that I may have suspected when I had but the faintest excuse for my suspicion? Might I not thus do more harm than good by attracting your attention to a false scent?"

"That is certainly a possibility, Miss Remson, but it is one which I am inclined to risk. I mean that I prefer to trust to my experience than to have you omit to tell me your suspicions."

"Very well; only promise me that you will not jump to conclusions and thus perhaps annoy the person whom I shall name."

"I agree to that. I will take no action without sufficient reason other than that furnished by yourself."

"Very well. You asked if I suspected any one, and again why I did not resist the thief. If you will remember, my head was bowed. At first I could not understand how something seemed to move my pin. I fancied that it had become entangled in the sultan's robe. Then the clock began to chime, and in a moment it flashed across my mind that perhaps Mr. Mitchell was taking my pin in order to win his wager. Therefore I said nothing. This makes my action clear to you."

"Perfectly. Then I am to understand that Mr. Mitchell did not tell you in advance that he would do this?"

"No, he did not; and that is why I have sent for you."

"I don't understand you."

"Why, all the time that I thought he had the pin I was not worried. I even went so far as to act indignantly at the festival. That was partly for your edification and mystification. I wanted to help Mr. Mitchell's plan. But when it occurred to me yesterday that Mr. Mitchell, if he had meant to take the pin, would have told me in advance, I saw at once that my first idea was wrong and that my ruby is really gone. Then I wrote to you."

"Then you feel sure that he would have told you in advance?"

"Positive."

"May he not have feared to ask you to implicate yourself in robbery and possible scandal? You know he was liable to arrest, and it might be a considerable time before he could have proved that his theft was only a joke. He may have wished to spare you notoriety."

"He knows me better than that." She said this with a smile.

"How better?" asked the detective.

"I mean that he knows there is nothing that I would not risk for him, since I have consented to give him myself. I am one of those women, Mr. Barnes, who are not easily deterred from aiding the man of her choice."

"Do you mean that you would be willing to share inevitable notoriety with him and that he knew this?"

"I do, and therefore feel confident that he would have asked my assistance if it had been his intention to take my pin."

"Just as he did on another occasion?"

The detective had been leading her up to this for the last few moments, and now watched to see the effect. She did not change countenance, but simply said:

"What occasion?"

"The morning when he looked your maid in this room while you went down town and took a little girl from one house to another?"

"To what other?" This was a hard one for the detective, and as he did not reply she smiled aggravatingly as she continued:

"Mr. Barnes, you have no proof of your assertion. You suspect that I did what you say, but you do not know it. As I told you just now, it is possible for a bare suspicion to lead one astray."

"Perhaps, but I do not think that I am far wrong in this instance."

"We will not discuss it. Let us return to the ruby. You told Mr. Van Rawlston, so he told me, that you knew in advance that this crime was about to occur. Did you know the person who would take the pin?"

"To be perfectly frank with you, Miss Remson, I expected that Mr. Mitchell would take it. I think now that he did take it. Do you wish me to continue the investigation? It may lead to your friend's losing his wager, whereas you have the right to notify the police that your gem has been returned to you. That would make our work on the case needless and assure him of winning his bet."

"Mr. Barnes' object here was ingenious. He thought that if the girl accepted his suggestion he would thus be assured that she still suspected Mr. Mitchell. Thus he would reach her true opinion of the case. Her answer was:

"I cannot do that. It would certainly be to give up my hope of recovering the stone. I am sure that Mr. Mitchell has not taken it. If I am wrong and he has done so without trusting me, why then he has made a mistake and must suffer by it. I am sure, however, it will prove otherwise. So do the best you can, if you please."

"You may rely upon it that my best energies shall be devoted to this work. I wish you good morning."

About 9 o'clock that same afternoon Mr. Barnes sent his card up to Mr. Mitchell at the Lafayette in Philadelphia. A few minutes later he was shown into that gentleman's room and found him in bed.

"Delighted to see you, Mr. Barnes. You are very kind to come and see me. For doing so I am almost willing to forgive you for the wrong which you have done me."

"Wrong? What wrong?"

"Do you remember the day you came to see me at the Fifth Avenue about the button which you had found? You asked me to show you the seventh of my own set. I agreed on condition that you should not annoy the lady."

"Well?"

"You broke your promise, that is all."

"In what way?"

"In the first place you bribed her maid to tell her a lie and leave her so that one of your spies could take her place; secondly, your spy did take her place, the result of which was that Miss Remson could not re-engage her old maid and had much trouble to get another as good."

"I did not foresee when I made that promise that such an emergency would arise as did later."

"Very true. But I did, and I warned you that you would gain nothing by making the promise, since you would only find my own story verified by your visit."

"Well, I am very sorry and will say that it shall not occur again."

"But, Mr. Barnes, it has occurred again."

"How so?"

"Why, she cannot leave her home at any time without being dogged by your spies."

"Mr. Barnes bit his lip in chagrin to find how well this man was acquainted with his plans, but he replied unhesitatingly:

"This time you are wrong. I promised you not to annoy Miss Remson in connection with the particular case of

"I don't understand you."

"Why, all the time that I thought he had the pin I was not worried. I even went so far as to act indignantly at the festival. That was partly for your edification and mystification. I wanted to help Mr. Mitchell's plan. But when it occurred to me yesterday that Mr. Mitchell, if he had meant to take the pin, would have told me in advance, I saw at once that my first idea was wrong and that my ruby is really gone. Then I wrote to you."

"Then you feel sure that he would have told you in advance?"

"Positive."

"May he not have feared to ask you to implicate yourself in robbery and possible scandal? You know he was liable to arrest, and it might be a considerable time before he could have proved that his theft was only a joke. He may have wished to spare you notoriety."

"He knows me better than that." She said this with a smile.

"How better?" asked the detective.

"I mean that he knows there is nothing that I would not risk for him, since I have consented to give him myself. I am one of those women, Mr. Barnes, who are not easily deterred from aiding the man of her choice."

"Do you mean that you would be willing to share inevitable notoriety with him and that he knew this?"

"I do, and therefore feel confident that he would have asked my assistance if it had been his intention to take my pin."

"Just as he did on another occasion?"

The detective had been leading her up to this for the last few moments, and now watched to see the effect. She did not change countenance, but simply said:

"What occasion?"

"The morning when he looked your maid in this room while you went down town and took a little girl from one house to another?"

"To what other?" This was a hard one for the detective, and as he did not reply she smiled aggravatingly as she continued:

"Mr. Barnes, you have no proof of your assertion. You suspect that I did what you say, but you do not know it. As I told you just now, it is possible for a bare suspicion to lead one astray."

"Perhaps, but I do not think that I am far wrong in this instance."

"We will not discuss it. Let us return to the ruby. You told Mr. Van Rawlston, so he told me, that you knew in advance that this crime was about to occur. Did you know the person who would take the pin?"

"To be perfectly frank with you, Miss Remson, I expected that Mr. Mitchell would take it. I think now that he did take it. Do you wish me to continue the investigation? It may lead to your friend's losing his wager, whereas you have the right to notify the police that your gem has been returned to you. That would make our work on the case needless and assure him of winning his bet."

"Mr. Barnes' object here was ingenious. He thought that if the girl accepted his suggestion he would thus be assured that she still suspected Mr. Mitchell. Thus he would reach her true opinion of the case. Her answer was:

"I cannot do that. It would certainly be to give up my hope of recovering the stone. I am sure that Mr. Mitchell has not taken it. #### Making Paper from Peat.

Under the startling title "From Peat to Paper in Two Hours," James Cooke Mills describes, in the Technical World Magazine for December, a wonderful industry which has sprung up in Michigan. By a peculiar process which the author details, the peat is converted into cardboard, finished, weighed and tied in two hours, and a shipment—full in two hours, and at a cost of $8.00 a ton, whereas the straw-board now in use costs over $20 a ton to produce. It is not a matter of paper and pencil plans; and the practical profits, either, for the plant has been working twenty-four hours a day, six days a week, for several months; and turning out about thirty tons of the finished product daily. All that the plant can produce is at present being used in the manufacture of cartons, by the makers of breakfast foods and other food products. The finished product is superior to the cardboard made from straw or wood pulp, in several ways. The passing of the peat pulp over hot rolls in the process of manufacture brings to the surface of the paper the natural oil of the peat, and makes the surface face of the finished product waterproof and antiseptic. Besides this, peat paper is lacking in the odor which straw or wood pulp paper possesses. The peat cardboard is also extremely
